BSU Charges Kissner, Glenn With Racism

By STEVE SCHRADER

Black students and white sympathizers demonstrated Sunday against alleged negligence and racial discrimination on the part of campus administrators and called for an end of harassment by white students, and for more attention to black students and their problems.

One of the key issues at stake Sunday was the alleged inaction of Carroll Glenn, dean of men, and Father Richard Kissner, C.P.P.S., vice-president for student affairs, after they were informed of an assault last December upon black students Richard Nix and Dexter Chadwick by white students in front of Gallagher Hall.

Black Student Union (BSU) Chairman Ron Robinson claims Kissner and Glenn were told about the incident in December, that Nix and Chadwick both identified one of the white students involved, and that Kissner promised the black students that the case would be investigated according to normal procedures and, if found guilty, the white students would be expelled.

Mrs. Harlan Noel, dean of women, says that there definitely was a promise to investigate. According to Robinson, the case was not resumed until April 22, after persistent inquiries by black students.

Glenn claims that at the time of the incident, the evidence did not warrant an investigation. He says he spoke to a resident assistant who broke up the melee and searched Gallagher rooms for a gun, since Chadwick claimed something was held in his back.

He admits confronting black students in December concerning the incident and claims that Christmas vacation interrupted any further investigation.

Glenn concedes that the matter was not taken up again until April 22. He defends the delay of action by doubting the certainty of the blacks' identification of white students involved and by interpreting the incident as "only mob action; just verbal harassment. No one's life was in danger." Kissner has "no comment" on the issue.

The BSU claims the negligence after the Gallagher incident illustrates discrimination against black students and preferential treatment for the white students involved.

Father Charles Banet, C.P.P.S., college president, has formed a committee, which met initially this Tuesday evening, to look into the Gallagher incident.

The BSU has also called for a committee to investigate the competence, or lack of it, of Glenn and Kissner, as demonstrated throughout the year. Banet says he respects this request, but that he sees no need for such a committee since he will make any such investigation himself.

Black students delivered a list of demands at Sunday's demonstration. They included the recruitment of more black students and of black professors; the allocation of a campus room for a BSU "Soul Room," black history and culture courses, an investigation of recruitment of black athletes, monthly meetings with the college president, SA president and a BSU representative, recognition of black students' accomplishments in college publications, and the establishment of a human relations council to examine campus racism.

Banet states that those proposals pertaining to his office are being seriously considered. He points out the difficulty of recruiting black students: high competition among colleges for bright students and high expense for financial aid and remedial education for black students "from the core of the ghetto."

Inquiries have been made by Banet as to the possibility of sharing a black professor or counselor among other Indiana colleges, such as Valparaiso. Other demands, says Banet, should be submitted to the pertinent faculty or administrative committees, which is what the BSU intends to do.

Culminating Sunday's demonstration was a speech by Finley Campbell, professor of American studies at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind. Campbell admonished whites, and Saint Joe students in particular, for their lack of sensitivity to black problems. He instructed whites to realize the reparations they owe black people after 300 years of oppression.

Honors Presented At Sunday Assembly

Awards for academic and service achievement were presented at last Sunday's Awards Assembly, as part of annual Parents' Weekend activities.

Academic honors went to: Thomas Gonwa, sophomore biochemistry major from LaGrange Park, Ill., winner of the Eileen W. Macfarlane Biology Award; Patrick Hitpas, senior accounting major from Carlyle, Ill., winner of the Indiana Association of Certified Public Accountants, Inc., award.

Michael Conley, junior accounting major from Riverdale, Ill., winner of the Ernst and Ernst Scholarship; Charles Farber, senior accounting major from Chicago, winner of the J. Kevin Woods Memorial Award; Larry Ropp, senior accounting major from Rensselaer, winner of the Board of Trustees Business Award.

Matthew Hampton, senior management major from Chicago, winner of the Wall Street Journal Award; James Hooten, senior geology major from Indianapolis, Ind., winner of the John P. Hruzek Geology Award.

Harold Hiegel, senior sociology major from Las Vegas, Nev., winner of the Bierley-Szymczak Sociology Merit Award; and Robert Giel, junior accounting major from South Bend, Ind., winner of the Indiana Association of Certified Public Accountants, Inc., Scholarship.

In addition, 23 nominees to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities; 38 members of Delta Epsilon Sigma, campus upperclassman honor fraternity; and 20 members of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor fraternity, were announced.

Service awards went to: Robert Trame, senior music major from Ottawa, Ohio, winner of the Louis White Glee Club Award; William Phalen, senior history major from Joliet, Ill., winner of the Third Annual Alumni Board Senior of the Year Award.

The campus Young Democrats Club and Young Republicans Club, co-winners of the annual Student Association Academic Club-of-the-Year Award, and the Black Student Union, winner of the SA Social Club-of-the-Year Award.

Mrs. Joseph Zgonc, winner of the SA Mother-of-the-Year Award, and 35 winners of the SA Award for Extraordinary Service and Dedication to the Association.

MERRYMAKERS

Merrymakers, Inc., of Saint Joseph's will sponsor a senior auction next Thursday, May 15, on the Halleck Center plaza at 2 p.m.

Seniors are invited to put any items they no longer want up for auction.

The Tikis, many-faceted Louisville combo, will play at Saturday's Prom. Says Junior Class President Bruce Bohlin: "The Tikis can play anything from Beethoven to the Beatles" and will also put on a floor show.

Simon And Garfunkel Lead SA Concert Series Survey

Results of the concert group survey conducted last month were released recently by Bob Czarnecki, SA vice-president.

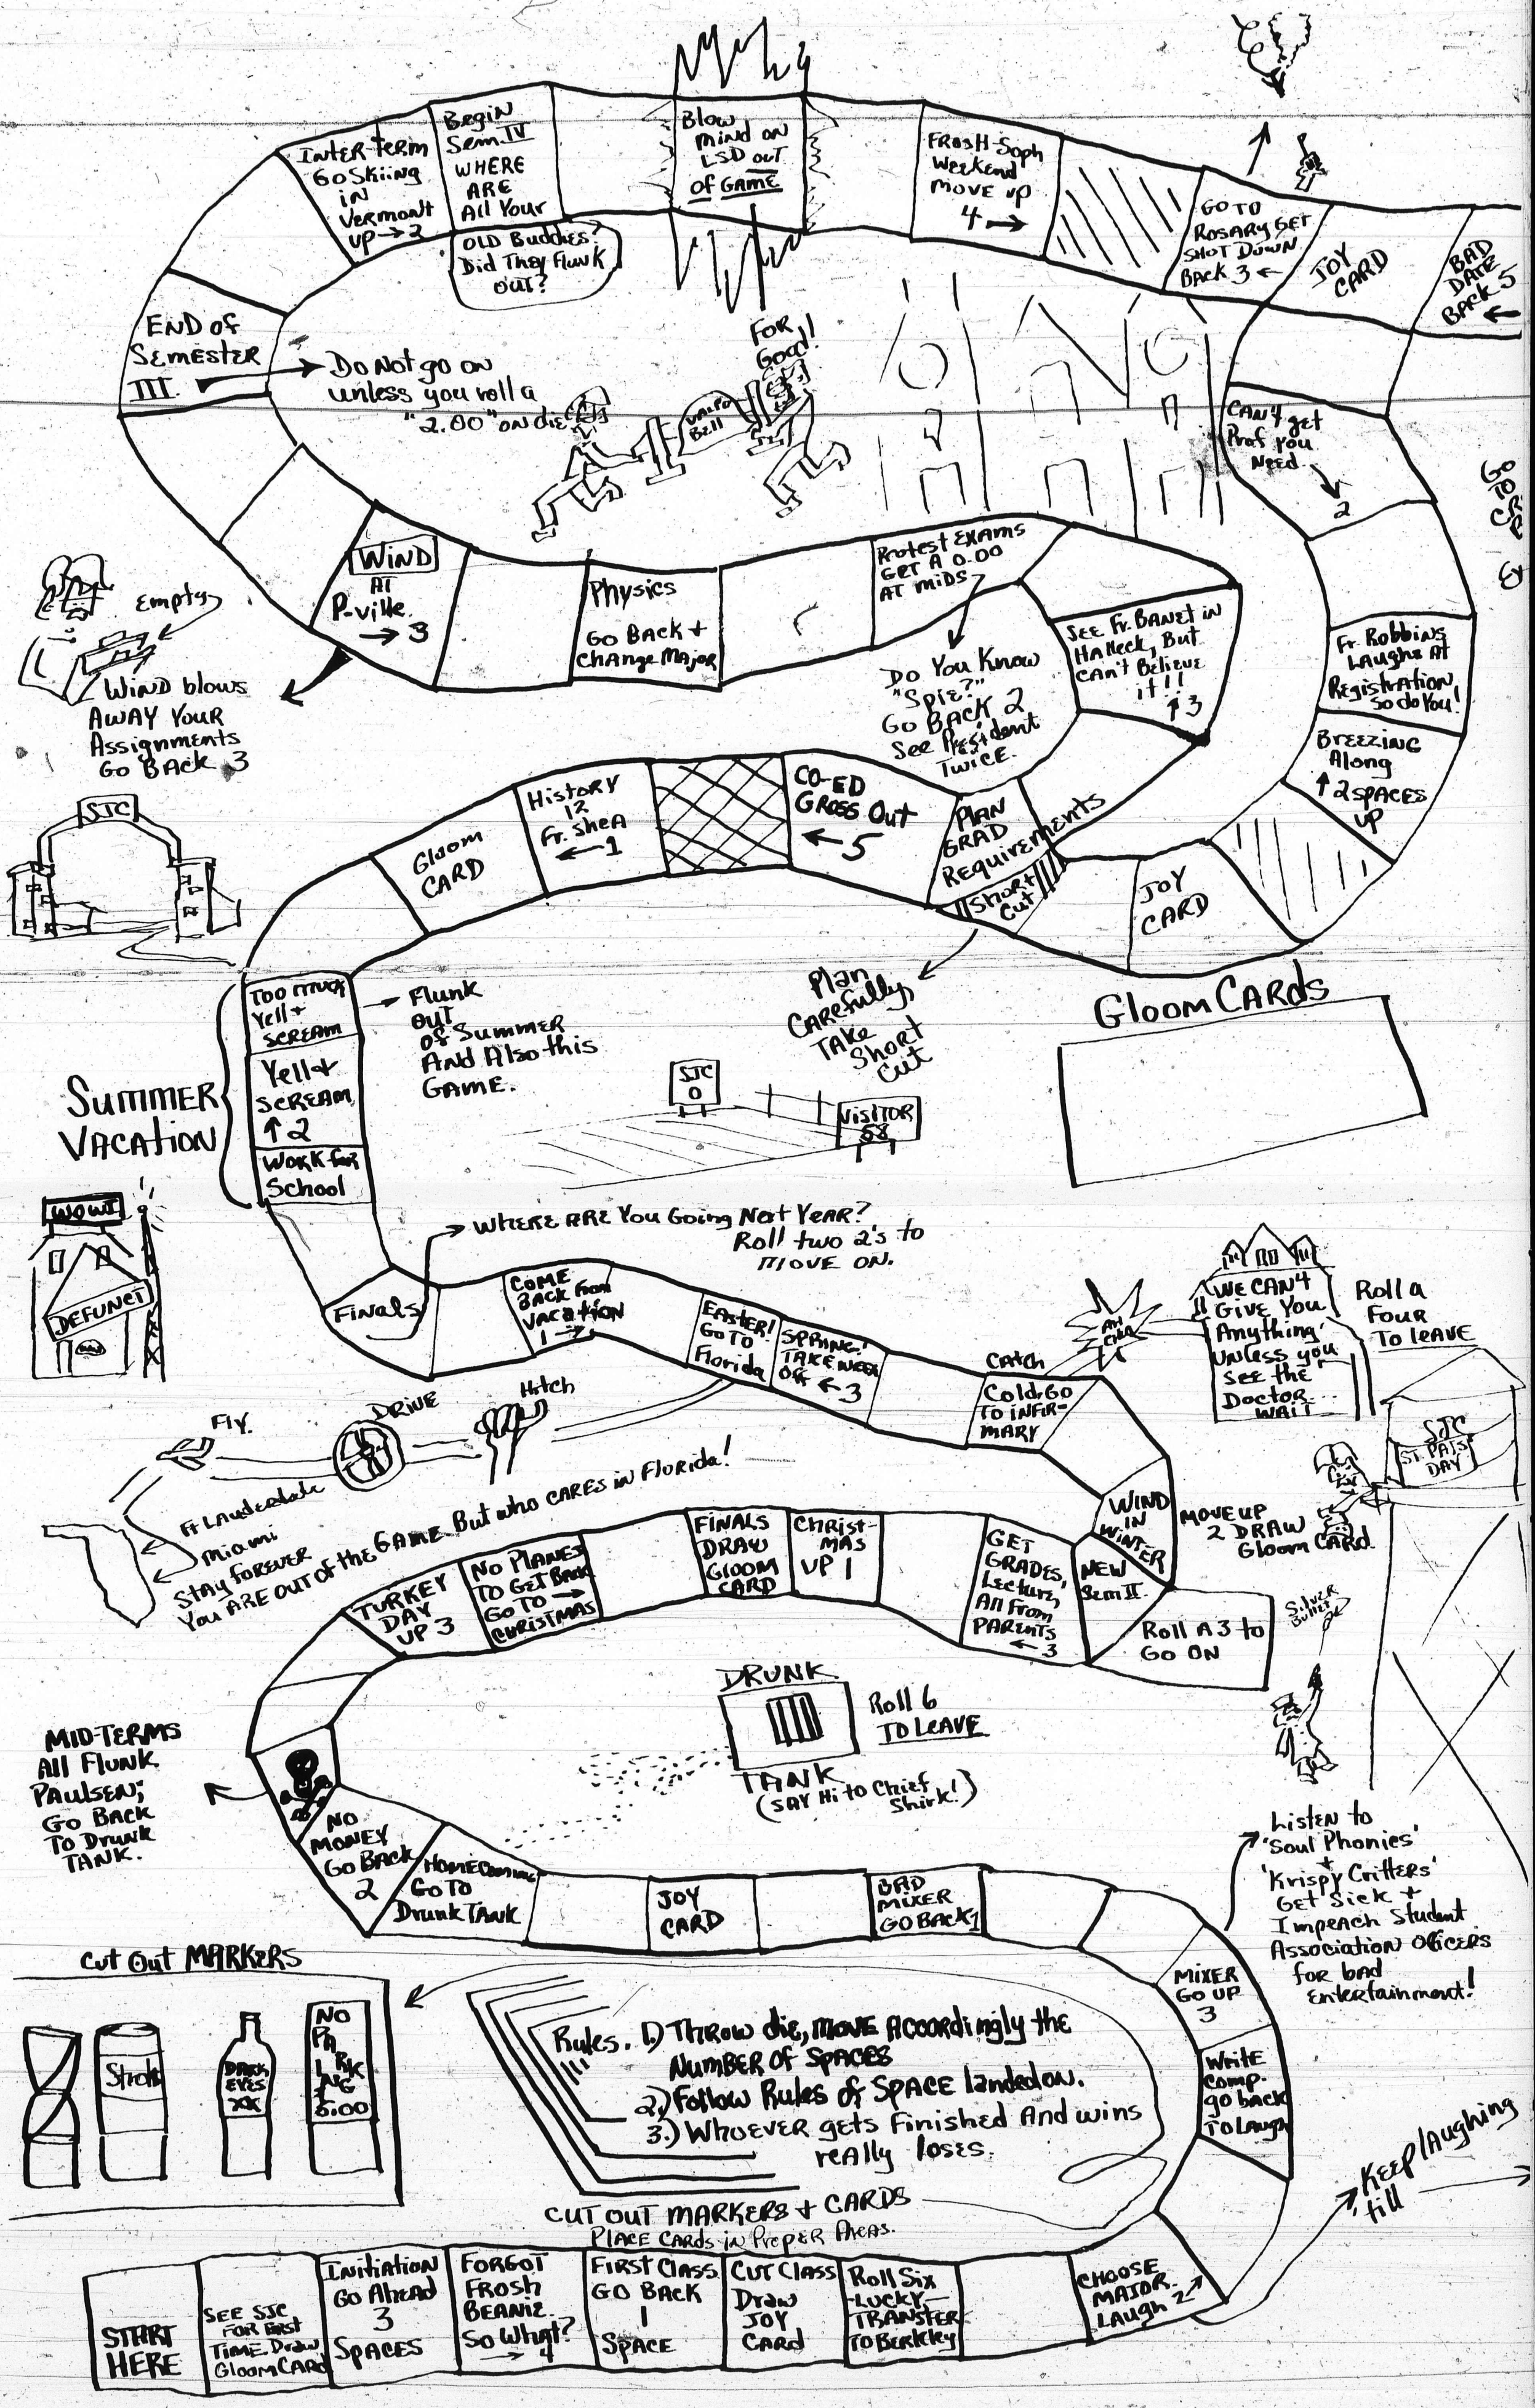

Leading the survey was Simon and Garfunkel, with 714 votes; the Association, with 582; the Rascals, 541; the Fifth Dimension, 445; and the Temptations, 347.

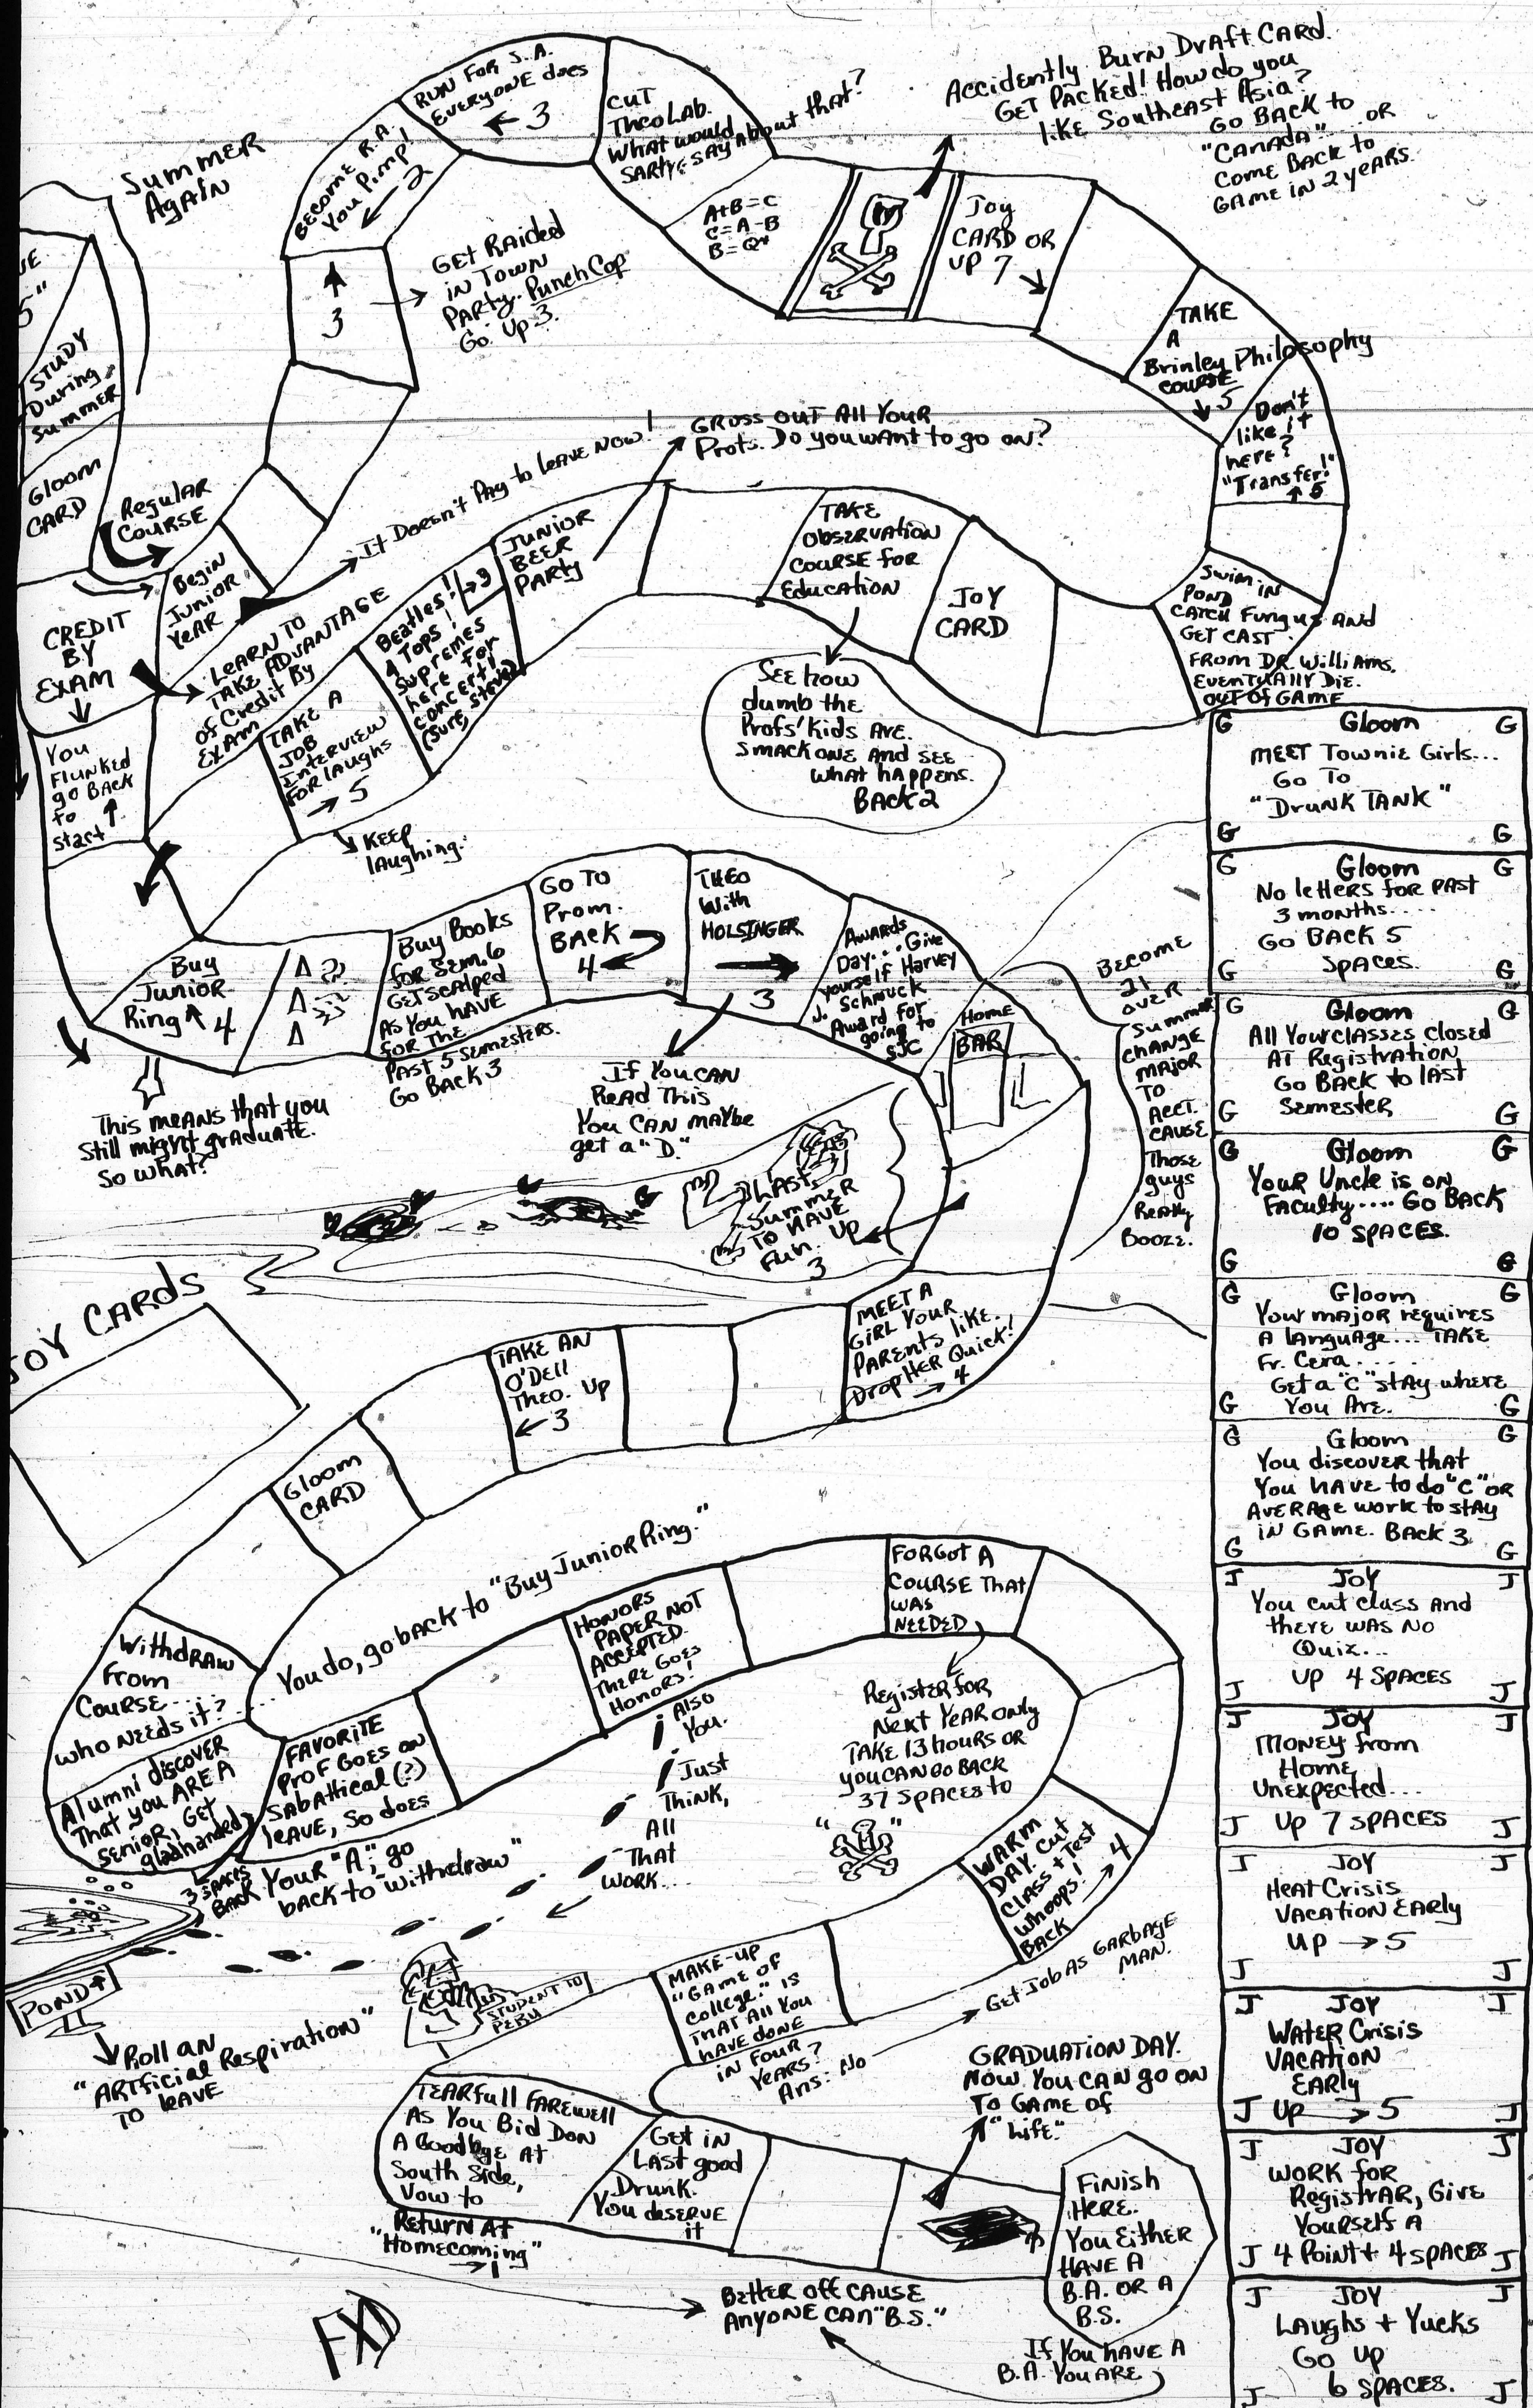

Czarnecki said that any group receiving over 200 votes would be given serious consideration as a concert choice. The list of groups was compiled from those acts handled by the Student Association's booking agencies: Peter J. Iodice Co., Gail and Rice, and Variety Theater International.

Dionne Warwick, 311; Blood Sweat and Tears, 295; Glenn Campbell, 285; the Beach Boys, 262; Johnny Rivers, 196; Steppenwolf, 158; Jefferson Airplane, 154; Johnny Mathis, 137;

The Vogues, 94; the Cowsills, 68; Paul Revere and the Raiders, 56; Jay and the Americans, 49; Creedence Clearwater Revival, 39; the Buckingham, 35; Baja Marimba Band, 34; the Box Tops, 22; the Ohio Express, 14; Steve Kizarc, 8; the Happenings, 7; and the 1910 Fruitgum Company, 6.

Football Fortunes

Saints To Shine In '69?

By ED ZGONC

Last Saturday's intrasquad scrimmage marked the official finish of spring football, with the white team outlasting the purple squad, 18-0.

Coach Bill Jennings says he was "very pleased with an intrasquad contest, instead of the traditional Old Timer's game. This year each player was exposed to maximum game conditions. Most of the players held up surprisingly well in the hot weather."

Statistically, no individuals stood out, although Karl Maio ran hard and speedster Terry Martin broke loose for a 40-yard gain. Jennings says Terry Campbell "led the team as well as any recent Saint Joe quarterback."

Jennings was pleased with the "team hitting," but says "we still have the defensive end problem." Along this line, the pass rush was not as strong as one would expect. Jennings states that "our team speed, although faster than last year, is still not fast enough. Our overall size is better, but we are still small."

Offensively the team lacked consistent ball control, or what

Jennings calls maintaining a "sustained attack." From Saturday's scrimmage, it was obvious that one area could use considerable improvement. "Our kicking was pathetic. We need a lot of work here," says Jennings.

"Our goals of spring training, that of developing team unity and establishing a set defensive and a set offensive unit, were accomplished," remarks Jennings.

"There will be no more experimenting next fall. We must polish our attack, though," Jennings expresses the need for the "game breaker," the so-called "home run."

Unless grades intervene, the offensive and defensive units are set. However, four junior college transfers have signed their contracts for next season: they include a quarterback, a safety, a defensive lineman, and a receiver/running back. They should help fill any existing gaps and provide vital depth to next year's squad.

About next season, Jennings projects that "we should have a better team, which really isn't saying much, but I guarantee Saint Joseph's will be an exciting team to watch in 1969."

Shaky fielding spelled defeat for the Puma baseball squad in a Tuesday encounter with the University of Illinois as the Pumas committed seven errors, dropping the single game 5-2.

The loss drops Dick Pawlow's team to a 10-8 season mark heading into Saturday's home twinbill versus the University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus, scheduled to get underway at 1 p.m.

Three Saint hurlers saw action in the contest with Gary Batchellor coming on in the fifth in relief of starter and loser John Soltis and Tom O'Loughlin taking over in the eighth.

Both Puma runs were products of a short-lived rally in the ninth as Mike Scudder led off with a single, moved up as Don Hoffman was hit by a pitch, and scored as Ron Unavitch rapped a pinch-hit single. Dan Henkle then singled Hoffman home with the final run of the game.

Saint Joe conference title hopes were snuffed out as defending Indiana Collegiate Conference champs Valparaiso copped both ends of a Saturday doubleheader, 6-5 and 4-1. The loss ended conference play for the Saints with a 3-5 mark.

Crusader catcher Skip Coley doubled in the run and blasted a two-run homer as Valpo built up an early 6-1 lead in the opener.

Roundtrippers by Ruhe and Hoffman highlighted the SJC comeback which fell short and Soltis, who went the distance, was labeled with the loss. Valpo hurler Sheldon Ferguson went eight innings to pick up the win, improving his record of 6-1.

In the nightcap, Valpo broke a scoreless pitcher's battle with three runs in the fifth and coasted to victory. Ron Unavitch turned in a complete-game performance in a losing effort for the Pumas.

NO BREAKS

"Looking back on Saturday's games," Pawlow comments, "we really had only three bad innings in the doubleheader. We came back real well in the first game and with a couple of breaks we still could have won."

Valpo came into the twinbill with only two losses, but Pawlow felt that "we had as good a team as Valpo, if not better."

In other varsity action completed during the week, Huntington College provided the Saints with a little sport in a Thursday afternoon doubleheader. Slamming out 26 hits and scoring 26 runs, the Pumas notched wins of 12-3 and 14-6.

Batchellor and O'Loughlin turned in complete-game victories as the contests were sparked by the long ball. Henkle, Hoffman, Ron Stanski, and Mark Swary all connected on fourbaggers in the SJC sweep, Hoffman's blast coming with the bases loaded.

J V WINS

Puma junior varsity baseballers tripped DePauw twice Saturday, 1-0 in ten innings and 9-2, closing out the season with a 3-3 mark.

Dave Gandolph gave up only five hits, walked one, and struck out 11 as he went the distance to pick up the win in the opener.

In game two, a four-run explosion in the fifth provided the Puma Cubs with a sweep of the doubleheader and gave Matt Keller his second victory without a loss in junior varsity competition.

Eighteen-game statistics indicate that Puma moundmen have been as strong as was predicted, with a team earned run average of only 1.95. Soltis (3-3) continues to lead the pitching parade with a 1.15 ERA in 47 innings, while striking out 39. He is followed closely by Unavitch (2-3) at 1.91 in 42 innings and with 37 strike outs. "These are two of the finest pitchers in the conference," says Pawlow.

O'Loughlin (2-1), working mainly in relief, has given up only 2.20 runs per game in 16 innings of work, and Batchellor (3-1) has posted a 2.61 ERA in 31 innings.

The team batting average has moved up to .237 as Ruhe has forged into the team leadership with a .312 average. Following are Stanski at .290, Unavitch at .289, Henkle at .284, and Scudder at .259.

"I'm satisfied with this year's squad," Pawlow says, "although we will have to work on eliminating the errors. Otherwise, the team has been doing real well and in fact we can do many more things this year than we have been able to do in the past."

Hellfighters

Saturday, 10 p.m. only

John Wayne, Katharine Ross, Jim Hutton, Vera Miles, Barbara Stuart.

The indestructible John Wayne brings action and excitement to a series of blazing conflagrations, flaming oil, and chemical fires, our hero working valiantly, dramatically—and unbelievably.

But a little lovemaking also enters the picture. Wayne is separated from his wife, Vera Miles, and their daughter, Katharine Ross, marries Jim Hutton, Wayne's partner.

The Blue Max

Sunday, 10 p.m. only

George Peppard, James Mason, Ursula Andress.

A nostalgic recapturing of the World War I aerial battles. Peppard is a German infantryman who has just been made pilot. Assumed to be almost perfect, he suffers many wrongs at the hands of his new companions.

But as the story unfolds, it seems that the snobs are the honorable ones. Peppard is not a hero at all, but a ruthless, ambitious liar, so conceited he can't even love the beautiful Ursula Andress, who tries quite hard to provoke the emotion in him.

This movie recaptures the glories of the war, but that's about all.

The Split

Wednesday, 10 p.m. only

Jim Brown, Diahann Carroll, Julie Harris, Ernest Borgnine.

When a small group organized and led by Brown steal the receipts at a professional football game, the chase begins, somewhat on the order of "Bullitt."

The first half of the movie is filled with witty scenes: an asthma attack in the middle of a robbery, the shooting out of the tires of a car to cause a traffic jam.

But the second half suddenly becomes very serious when Diahann Carroll is almost raped by a white neighbor.

Terry Campbell, destined to be next fall's field general, retreats to throw in intrasquad game Saturday. Campbell "led the team as well as any recent Saint Joe quarterback," says Coach Jennings.
